Basis for Adjusting The Mexican Muddle

State Department Says No Faction Is in Control of Chaotic Mexico at Present Time.

CARRANZA WILLING TO BE A PARTY TO PEACE CONFERENCE

Revolution Ended Year Ago, is Decision of United States, and Factional Disturbances Must Speedily End—New President Will Be One Concerned in Overthrow of Huerta, But Not Necessarily Representing Any Faction at Present—Carranza Asks Recognition.

By Associated Press.

Washington, August 7.—The Mexican situation moved forward with two important developments today. General Carranza signified his willingness to meet his adversaries in a peace conference, and an authoritative announcement was made of the views with which the United States is approaching the problem in the Pan-American conference. The position of the United States was officially stated as follows:

That neither Carranza nor any other military faction in Mexico is in control of the country, or can be considered as triumphant in the republic.

That the real purpose of the revolution was accomplished a year ago, when Huerta was overthrown, and that the strife which has continued since has been over factional differences and has not been in reality a revolution.

That it considers General Villa, while financially weakened, still an active element in Mexican affairs, who must be reckoned with in an adjustment.

That the so-called Cientificos do not enter into the problem now, because it is considered that the overthrow of Huerta disposed of that element.

That the greater portion of Mexico is not at peace, as General Carranza claims, because fighting continues in many sections.

That the first problem to be solved in restoration of peace is to find for provisional president, a man who represents the cause of the original revolution against Huerta, but who does not necessarily represent any of the factions now at war.

This outline is the first authoritative statement of the basis upon which the United States is proceeding.

Washington, August 7.—On behalf of General Carranza, a formal brief on the Mexican situation was filed with Secretary Lansing today, practically asking for political recognition and proposing that Carranza's Washington agents meet any of the other factions in a peace conference.

The brief, submitted by Charles A. Douglas, General Carranza's American consul, sets forth the formal suggestion of a peace conference.

THREE MEXICAN OUTLAWS SHOT

By Associated Press.
Brownsville, Texas, August 7.—Fighting three against twenty, three Mexican outlaws were killed by a posse last night at a farmhouse about 30 miles north of here. One posseman was slightly wounded. The fight lasted not more than 10 seconds.

By Associated Press.
Des Moines, Iowa, August 7.—Joe Cooper was killed in an automobile speedway race here this afternoon, when his car jumped the track in front of the grand stand on the 28th lap.

Ralph De Palma set the pace when the drivers in the 300-mile auto race was started.

PRO-BRITISH PRESIDENT IS ELECTED

By Associated Press.
Lisbon, Portugal, August 7.—Bernardino Machado was elected by congress today, president of the republic of Portugal. He was elected on the third ballot.

He was at one time minister to Washington, but was recalled because he made a premature announcement to his country of President McKinley's death. He is said to be pro-British.

The figures do not include public utilities appraisals. Scioto county shows a decrease of $116,780.

WOULD ENVELOP ENTIRE ARMIES

Grand Duke's Forces Not Yet Free From Mighty Steel Pincers Wielded by Germans—Advance Upon Riga Temporarily Halted—Germans Welcomed Into Warsaw as Liberators, Claim Teutons—Fort on Vistula Proves Thorn in Flesh of Invaders—Italians Win Big Battle.

By Associated Press.
London, August 7.—Holding the bridge heads at Warsaw over the Vistula river, the most formidable military obstacle in eastern Europe, Germany and Austria-Hungary, having conquered the river line and with it invaded Russian territory for an average depth of 100 miles along the front from the Baltic to Bukovina, now are throwing their forces forward in an endeavor to accomplish what Russia's allies have feared—the complete envelopment of the Russian army.

The British press, basing its opinions on Petrograd dispatches and the lack of reports to the contrary from either Berlin or Vienna, is inclined to the view that the forces of Grand Duke Nicholas retired from Warsaw virtually intact, but there is an increasing disposition not to minimize the seriousness of the situation as it still exists, and the anxiety seems to be manifested in renewed pressure to bring the Balkan states in line on the side of the entente powers.

Quiescent Sweden is now restless, and even so conservative a newspaper as the London Morning Post finds cause of comment in Sweden's growing hostility to Russia, as stimulated by German successes in Poland.

Whether the present Balkan negotiations will be more fruitful from the entente standpoint than were previous attempts to align these states against Germany and Turkey is debatable, especially so as Greece, according to Athens dispatches quoting Premier Gounaris, refuses to consider the relinquishing of any territory to Bulgaria, a concession which might clear the situation.

Though still holding Nova Georgievsk, the whole Russian garrison remains at bay. Thus, the Russian armies not only are menaced back of Warsaw salient, from which it is assumed they were not entirely clear before heavy German forces broke across the Vistula to the southeast of Warsaw; but a larger and more formidable enveloping movement has taken definite form, being in effect a great pair of pincers, aiming at Dyvinsk in the north and at Brest Litovsk in the south, and superimposed on a smaller pair which sought and still seeks to crush the Russian forces in and around Warsaw.

There is the chance that the grip of the smaller pair may not be effective, and it will take some time to demonstrate whether the more ambitious movement succeeds.

Paris, August 7.—After a desperate battle, the Italians have stormed and captured the summit of Monte San Michele, which dominates Gorizia, says a Petite Journal dispatch from Turin.

The fall of Gorizia, 22 miles north west of Trieste, on the Isonzo, now is believed imminent, the dispatch adds.

Paris, August 7.—An Italian submarine is reported to have been sunk in an encounter with an Austrian submarine in the Adriatic Sea.

marine is reported to have been sunk in an encounter with an Austrian submarine in the Adriatic Sea.

Berlin, August 7.—The German troops were welcomed to undamaged Warsaw as liberators, according to the report forwarded to Berlin by a special correspondent of the Lokale Anzeiger, who places emphasis on the statement that the city was evacuated without conflict.

The inhabitants, he says, filled the streets and welcomed the marching troops with every sign of real enthusiasm and rejoicing.

The Tageblatt Warsaw correspondent confirms this report, and says the streets were filled with Poles, Jews, Germans and Russians, who waved their hats joyfully to the German soldiers.

Many of the inhabitants were even standing in the vicinity of the castle, although an infantry battle with the Russians was proceeding to the east of the building.

Electric street cars were running as usual, and almost all shops were open. Very little damage had been done in the city proper.

The offensive of the armies of Archduke Joseph Ferdinand and Field Marshal von Mackensen continues, he adds, and the effect on the yet unchanged East Galician front is likely soon to make itself felt.

Berlin, August 7.—Fort Dembe, comprising part of the Warsaw fortifications on the right bank of the Vistula river, has been captured by German troops, according to an official statement given out today by the German army headquarters.

Petrograd, August 7.—Warsaw was evacuated by the Russians without struggle, in its immediate vicinity, in order that the city might escape damage. War munitions and railroad rolling stock had previously been removed. A large force of Russians remained close to the city, prepared to contest any effort by the Germans to cross the Vistula in pursuit.

Nova Georgievsk, invested on three sides, still has railroad communication to the southeast. The fortress presents a serious obstacle to the co-operation of the German forces at Warsaw and those along the Narva.

The Germans appear to have abandoned their advance on Riga for the present, but it will soon be the scene of activity, it is believed.

Berlin, August 7.—A German report today says the Belgians in Flanders have been forced by artillery fire to partly evacuate advanced positions south of Dixmude.

The report also says that in the eastern theater German armies have broken the resistance of the Russians near Lomza and the mouth of the river Bug; that the troops investing Nova Georgievsk have penetrated as far as the Narva river, and that the Russians continue to bombard Warsaw positions from the east bank of the Vistula.

ANOTHER EPOCH IN WOOL THIEF CASE

Through their efforts to compromise, Theodore Giffin and E. K. Polk, victims of the thievery of Bert and John Eubanks, may involve themselves in a serious charge, according to information received in this city Monday. The two Eubanks brothers were arrested several weeks ago after they had stolen automobile tires, a considerable amount of wool from these and other farmers of Greene, Ross and neighboring counties.

Sheriff Sweepston stated this morning that he had been notified by Sheriff South of Sabina, that Polk and Giffin had attempted to compromise for their losses with persons interested in the cases of the two brothers, who are at present confined in the county jail, and that the residents of that part of the county are very much enraged because of their action. Sheriff Sweepston further declared that Polk and Giffin are guilty of aiding and abetting the prisoners if they did attempt to compromise.—Chillicothe News.

GENUINE NOVELTY COMING TO THE EMPIRE THEATER

John W. Vogle, whose every endeavor has been given to minstrelsy, has forsaken the beaten path and this season stands sponsor for "Japland," an operatic minstrel farce-comedy, the newest big thing in theatricals; newest because of the conception that solders the link that binds minstrelsy to a modern musical girl show. The book calls for two acts and fourteen scenes, all massive, vivid impressions of picturesque Japan, the land of quaint costumes, profuse coloring and tinsel. The cast is necessarily large for two complete organizations are required for the presentation, also Mr. Vogle's lyric band and double symphony orchestra. The story is so arranged that the first part of a minstrel show is happily blended with scenes and melodies from our best liked operas and, at the same time, allows sufficient scope for the introduction of the more recent song successes, novel specialties and dancing numbers of the tango-maxixe type, the large girl chorus enjoying the distinction of being the fastest dancing contingent ever seen in musical farce. "Japland" will have its initial local hearing at the Empire Theater, Friday, August 13, the seat sale starting Monday, at Leland's News Stand.

SNAKE STORY WITH A LAUGH IN IT

Samuel Karshner, of Fariton had a most thrilling experience with a snake says the Adelphi Border News and as a result his ears are badly torn and swollen.

Mr. Karshner was chasing his neighbor's chickens out of his garden and in his attempt to look through a broken board in the fence succeeded in getting his head caught between the boards which were nailed boot-jack shape, being wide at the bottom. Mr. Karshner got down on his knees and thrust his head, ears and all through the boot-jack shaped boards, and was startled to find a vicious snake within a few inches of his head. He drew his head up as far as he could, while the coiled snake, head up, all the time was darting its fangs and striking his face.

Cries brought neighbors to his assistance, the snake vanished, but not until he had nearly torn off his ears.

THE CUT-OUT

Those residents who work late and cannot rise early; those who have sickness are loudly complaining of the practice of local motor owners and operators, whether they be automobile or motorcycle, by opening the mufflers on their machines and making an unearthly noise which sounds like a machine gun in operation. In many cities this is made a misdemeanor and punished, and it is time something of the kind be done in Chillicothe. The anti-noise crusade should begin here in earnest. In Cincinnati, Columbus, New York or any other city, where this damnable practice exists the offenders are speedily punished. The city council and the automobile club ought to fight together to abolish it.

Scientific engineers who have tested out gas engines give the verdict that absolutely no gain in efficiency is given by opening the cut-out, so the noise is not at all necessary except to make some chauffeur feel that he is attracting attention.—Chillicothe Gazette.

FOUR MACHINE GUNS WILL BE TRIED OUT

Four automatic machine rifles and equipment, costing approximately $85,000 have arrived in Cincinnati for the First Ohio Infantry, and the guns will be part of the equipment at Yellow Springs next week when the regiment goes into camp there.

The equipment for the guns is very extensive. There are barrel cases, extractor mittens, asbestos palms, cooling sponges, breech blocks, gas cylinders and cleaners, and pack saddles for mules to carry the guns; for the company of men, haversacks, shirts, shoes, canteens, coats, hats, &c.

UNION MEETING

The union service of the churches next Sunday evening, will be held at the Church of Christ, at 7:30. A. W. West, pastor of the First Baptist church will preach. All members of churches, and other singers, are requested to come and make up a large union choir.

CHAS. BISH JOHNSON.

To the Citizens of Washington C. H., Ohio:
I wish to say, as a Republican candidate for nomination and election for Mayor, that my chief aim is for a good, clean administration, with strict enforcement of all laws, as they appear on the statutes, with partiality to none.

As yet I have not thought of any appointees for any position but I hope to be able to find men to fill such appointments who will assist me in making Washington a good law abiding city.

If I am elected, I will go into office with but one promise and this promise is to all, viz:

"STRICT LAW ENFORCEMENT"

Your support will be appreciated at the Nomination next Tuesday, August 10th.

How Peace Comes

There is no fixed rule governing the cessation of war. Wars end in many ways, and no one would be safe in now predicting how the present struggle will come to an end. But it will have to end—that is the only good thing in connection with it.

Neutral nations are seldom able to bring peace to warring nations, although neutrals are valuable in adjusting the final settlement of the terms of peace. As a general proposition neutrals are called in to aid and advise, but it must be the warring nations themselves that finally fix the terms.

During the war between Russia and Japan, President Roosevelt sent identical notes to the two nations. He suggested that the struggle had reached a point where it ought to be desirable to end it, but did not, of course, intimate that either country was whipped. He offered his "good offices" to both nations, in the event they desired to get together and arrange terms of peace. Each country accepted his offer, an armistice was decreed, and representatives of the two nations met in this country, the conference being presided over by a representative of the United States government, and peace was patched up between the warring nations. The armies were then withdrawn from the various fields and the treaty of peace put into effect. Had the two nations been unable to come to terms, the armistice would have been declared off, and the armies would again have begun combat.

Other wars have been ended by one or the other of the contestants having friends "feel out" the opponent to ascertain what sort of terms could be obtained. When it was seen that the opponent would not make unreasonable terms, then a cessation of hostilities was asked until a conference could be held.

In the event that the Allies or the Germans should ask for a peace conference, each nation would be represented by a delegate. The demands or conditions of peace would be written by each side, and discussed in the conference. Each side would try to persuade the other to grant the terms asked, and a final compromise would be effected. Then a peace protocol would be signed—a sort of preliminary treaty, which would be followed by a more permanent treaty involving the terms agreed upon. Hostilities usually cease when a peace conference is asked, and neither side is allowed to proceed with fortifying or equipping armies during the pendency of the conference. The battle lines may be drawn up ready for action at a moment's notice and remain in battle array for weeks at a time, neither side doing anything to improve its condition. In such events the soldiers usually fraternize, and by the time the treaties are signed the men lately at each other's throats in death grapple, are the best of friends.

The United States will hardly be called into the peace agreements between the present combatants. Germany has already stated, although unofficially, that she would not ask the United States to participate, and of course we wouldn't offer to do so unless invited. So it is probable that other neutrals, such as Switzerland and the Scandinavian countries, will have much more to do with the ending of the war than will the United States.—Dayton Daily News.

Poetry For Today

FORGET THEE!

"Forget thee?"—If to dream by night and muse on thee by day, If all the worship, deep and wild, a poet's heart can pay, If prayers in absence breathed for thee to heaven's protecting power, If winged thoughts that flit to thee —a thousand in an hour, If busy Fancy, blending thee with all my future lot— If this thou call'st "forgetting," thou indeed shalt be forgot!

"Forget thee?"—Bid the forest-birds forget their sweetest tune; "Forget thee?"—Bid the sea forget to swell beneath the moon; Bid the thirsty flowers forget to drink the eve's refreshing dew; Thyself forget thine "own dear land" and its "mountains wild and blue;" Forget each old, familiar face, each long-remembered spot— When these things are forgot by thee, then thou shalt be forgot.

Keep, if thou wilt, thy maiden peace, still calm and fancy free, For God forbid they gladsome heart should grow less glad for me; Yet, while that heart is still unwon, O bid not mine to rove, But let it nurse its humble faith and uncomplaining love; If these, preserved for patient years at last avail me not, Forget me then—but ne'er believe that thou canst be forgot. —John Moultrie.

Tobacco Production.

India, second only to this country in the production of tobacco, consumes most of its own product and imports very little. Russia is third and raises practically all her supply, importing and exporting only a small quantity. Austria-Hungary is the fourth producing country, importing more than a fourth as much as it raises and exports one-eighth of its own crop. Germany is an extensive grower of tobacco, but imports two and a half times as much as it cultivates and does not export any. France raises considerable tobacco under government supervision and imports great quantities of the milder Virginia tobaccos to keep up the quality of the cigarettes and other products made under the state monopoly. Both France and Spain keep buyers in this market.

Every now and then you run into a pest who has nothing to say and who holds you up for an hour while he says it.

A boy always pities a pet dog that is kissed by women.

There is one good thing about every man. And that is his opinion of himself.

The reason why a handsome and shapely young girl marries a wealthy old man for love alone is because if you throw a baseball up in the air it will stay there.

A man doesn't often regret that he married his wife. But he often wonders why he married her.

A photographer can make another man's wife look pleasant and keep her mouth shut, but he can't make his own wife do it.

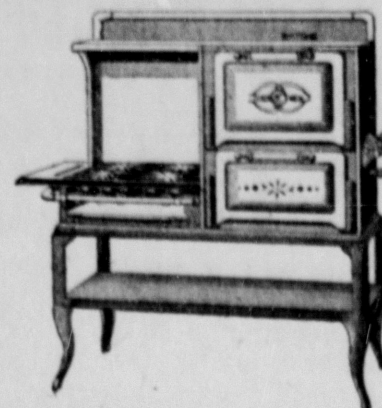

A man doesn't mind being called level headed, but don't try to call him flat headed.

Once in awhile you will hear a woman who has a fair to middling mustache bawling her husband out because he needs a shave.

The man who doesn't get into the argument is always suspected of knowing something about the question being argued.

There never was a married man who was not fond of his wife's husband.

DONALD MACKENZIE

Donald Mackenzie has set a high name for himself in the realms of flimdom. He likes to tell the story of how he was thrust into the directing game, "forced" he says; but is modest on the subject of being to the manner born. He was working in a Pathe picture some three years ago in the studios in Jersey City, playing the lead, when the director was taken suddenly ill. Of course, this caused much commotion, there being no one to continue the work and get the picture out, and plans were all upset. Chief Director Louis Gasnier, now General Manager, sent for "Mac" and asked him if he could direct the picture as well as act. Mr. Mackenzie hesitated about taking on the responsibilities of the job, but Mr. Gasnier said that he had watched him at work and knew he was equal to the task. Mr. Mackenzie, with the intuition of the canny Scot at last agreed to complete the picture, and made such a success of it that he has been making pictures for Pathe ever since. "So you see I was 'forced' into being a director, with Mr. Gasnier as the propelling force!" he says.

WHISPERING GALLERIES.

Old World Churches With Remarkable Acoustic Properties.

The most celebrated whispering gallery is that which surrounds the base of the interior of the dome of St. Paul's cathedral, London. A person speaking near its surface can be heard distinctly by one listening near the smooth wall at the other extremity of the diameter, but not elsewhere.

In the cathedral of Gloucester a whispering passage leads from one aisle to the opposite behind the east window of the choir. It is seventy-five feet long, six and a half feet high and three feet wide in the form of half an irregular octagon. The walls and ceilings are of freestone, and the slightest whisper travels from end to end.

The cathedral of the Taj Mahal in Agra, India, has most marvelous echoes and reverberating qualities, but is scarcely a whispering gallery. The whole cathedral of Girgenti, in Sicily, has this character owing to the peculiar structure of its walls. These remarkable properties also belonged to the "Ear of Dionysius," cut in the rock at Syracuse in the shape of a parabola curve, ending in an elliptical arch. It is said that the tyrant seated in a small chamber over a hundred feet from the spot occupied by his captives by this means could hear every word spoken by his prisoners.—London Answers.

GUNPOWDER IN WAR.

For Centuries Its Use Was Opposed In the Name of Humanity.

There was a period when any kind of "explosive" fighting in war was considered barbarous. The discovery of gunpowder put a stop to the old fashioned method of attack, in which only missiles and sharp edged weapons were considered ethical, but gunpowder did not come into approval without a struggle. In fact, it was under the "humanity" ban for almost three centuries.

This remarkable compound of saltpeter, sulphur and charcoal, which was given its first tryout at the siege of Constantinople in 1453, had been known to both the chemist and the soldier for a hundred years or more. It is said to have been discovered by Roger Bacon in England about the year 1290 and by a German monk named Schwarz twenty years later. Another independent discoverer of the same dangerous mixture was an unknown and uncelebrated Moor, whose secret was ultimately carried into Europe in the fourteenth century. Even he was not the first to make an explosive compound. The Chinese "beat him to it," having used this same kind of mixture for rocket signals before the Christian era.

The fall of Constantinople was brought about by the use, the wholly unethical and altogether barbarous use, of cannon balls, and it was not until about a century later that the world gave its full sanction to the killing of men by means of gunpowder.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Ballot, Not the Bullet, Is the Solution of War

By Rabbi PEREIRA MENDES, New York City

Right of Self Government Should Not Be Confined to One Sex

By Justice CHARLES L. GUY, Supreme Court of New York

AS children of humanity the war shocks us, with its negation of humanity and religion. Let there be a court of compulsory arbitration.

Let public opinion be educated to this. The solution of war is the ballot, not the bullet. Voters must vote only for those candidates for legislature who are pledged to promote compulsory arbitration before nations attack each other. WITH ARREST AND DEATH PENALTY FOR THE RESPONSIBLE HEADS OF THE OFFENDING NATION BY THE COMBINED ARMIES OF THE WORLD, ONE STERN LESSON WOULD BE ENOUGH.

A year ago such a proposition seemed unthinkable. Today, with millions of brave men killed or maimed, millions of women widowed, millions of orphans weeping, no remedy can be too harsh.

THE WORLD IS SICK OF WAR. LET JUSTICE BE HEARD, BUT LET MERCY PREVAIL. LET US FORGIVE, FORGET AND FORBEAR. THEN ONLY WILL WORLD PEACE AND HEART PEACE PREVAIL.

If the right of self government, as I maintain, is an inherent right, why should it be confined to human beings of one sex?

Seriously, if democracy means anything it means that all who are governed, all sane adult persons whose lives or welfare or material interests are affected by the character of the government and the laws, SHOULD HAVE A VOICE IN THE MAKING OF THOSE LAWS AND A VOICE IN THE CHOOSING OF THAT GOVERNMENT.

The whole struggle as to the recognition or nonrecognition of woman as a political factor is the age old conflict between special privilege on the one hand and the great body of the people on the other. It is a battle between democracy and autocracy. Every argument advanced today against the franchise to women has also been ADVANCED AGAINST MAN'S HIGHER DEVELOPMENT, AGAINST EVERY EFFORT MADE BY HIM TO RAISE HIMSELF TO A HIGHER PLANE AND TO THE ENJOYMENT OF A LARGER LIBERTY.

EVERY BUSINESS MAN IN CITY IS INVITED

Conference With High B. & O. Officials to Be Held at Y. M. C. A. and Lunch Served Monday Noon—Large Number of Local Citizens Not Only Invited But Urged to Be Present to Aid in Obtaining New Union Station Here.

Every business and professional man and other citizens who have the welfare of Washington at heart are urged to be at the Y. M. C. A. next Monday, at not later than 11:45 a. m., for the purpose of meeting high B. & O. railroad officials who come here to discuss the proposed new Union Station in this city.

Lunch will be served at the Y. M. C. A. at the above hour, and the officials have been invited to join local business men at luncheon, after which the depot project will be discussed, and if possible, something definite agreed upon.

The committee of the Dutch Treat Club having the project in hand held a meeting Saturday afternoon, when definite announcement was made that First Vice President of the B. & O.—the "man who does things," Supt. Brooks of the Ohio Division of the road and other officials, would be here Monday noon for the purpose of taking up the depot project.

The matter of a new Union Station has proceeded further than the average citizen knows, and something definite is expected from the conference Monday noon. Mr. Thompson was to have been in this city for a conference today, but was summoned to St. Louis and wired that he would be here, without fail, Monday, leaving Cincinnati at ten o'clock Monday morning.

It is desired that the largest body of representative citizens assembling together in recent years, be at the Y. M. C. A. at the appointed hour. Each man pays 25c for the luncheon.

LIGHTING PLAN DELIGHTS THE ENTIRE CITY COUNCIL

Approximately 71,000 Candle Power Utilized in System Submitted By Mr. Jones, Expert Lighting Engineer—Figures Indicate Saving of 60,000 Candle Power Over Old System—Conference With Mr. G. N. Clapp to Be Held Soon.

H. Whitford Jones, lighting expert from Cleveland, who has been employed by the city council to look after the city's interests in connection with the new lighting contract, met with council Friday night and submitted blue prints and specifications for the new lights.

Council met and recessed, and during the recess a private conference was held with Mr. Jones and the proposals thoroughly explained and discussed, and council is greatly pleased with the plans and specifications submitted by Mr. Jones. Following the conference council reconvened and after several questions had been propounded to Mr. Jones and readily answered, council adjourned.

Saturday morning Mr. Jones arranged a conference with Mr. G. N. Clapp, manager of the Washington Gas & Electric Company, to be held next Tuesday, and at that time the matter of contract will be discussed and threshed out.

The plans for illuminating the city are radically different from those of the present, with not an arc light included in the entire system, but incandescents of 100 candle power, and 250 candle power, are to be used.

The number of 100 candle power lamps proposed is 407, with 15 of the 250 c. p. and 132 standards of two lamps each.

PROTESTS ARISING OVER OPENING STREET

Protests are beginning to arise over the opening of West Court street for improvement next week, owing to the fact that the Fayette County Fair will be held week after next and a detour from the main thoroughfare to the Fair Grounds will be necessary if the street is torn up by the contractors.

If the street is blocked by the improvement detours by way of West Temple street or Oakland avenue will be necessary.

Under present arrangements the contractors will place their steam shovel to work on West Court street Monday of next week.

SCOUTS ARRANGE FOR AN OVERNIGHT HIKE

The Boy Scouts have arranged to take what is known to scout lore as an "overnight hike" next week.

They are to leave the Y. M. C. A. in a body and equipped for hiking, at 5 p. m. Tuesday. After a tramp of three or four miles they will go into camp and prepare a camp supper. They will spend the night in camp, sleeping in their blankets around the campfire. In the morning they will prepare breakfast before starting on the hike home. Provisions suitable for campfire cooking will be taken on the jaunt.

PROF. WM. MCCLAIN WILL TEACH CLASS

During the absence of Rev. Ross, who is at Russell's Point enjoying a much needed rest, Supt. Wm. McClain will teach the big Bible class at Grace church, and his theme for Sunday morning is "The Responsibility of Adults to the Youth of our Community," and will be of general interest.

Owing to his position at the head of the Washington schools and years of work in other schools, Prof. McClain is peculiarly fitted for discussing the above topic.

Tomorrow's Game.

While Wilmington-Washington ball games, like any other contest in which two cities are pitted against one another, is always a matter of intense interest, it is probable that the game between the Athletics and the Clintons at Wilmington tomorrow has come in for more attention than any competition of the towns in years.

Both the Clintons and the Athletics have in the field at the present time about the best teams in the history of either city. Each team has won two games in a series of six to be played. The fact makes tomorrow's game of more interest of any of the four previous games and should draw the largest crowd of the season.

The game is to be played at North End park, Wilmington, beginning at 3 p. m. The local players will leave for Wilmington in automobiles at noon and will be accompanied by a large bunch of rooters.

It has not been announced what is to be done in the event that each team wins three games in the series. Manager Noon dismisses the

The Cadets, who were expecting to play the Lancaster industrial school team Saturday and the Lancaster Cubs Sunday afternoon, at Lancaster, were forced to cancel the first game and may not get to play the second.

CELEBRATED HYPNOTIST TO BE AT THE EMPIRE

Professor J. J. Clifford, the Hypnotist, who is internationally famous, and the man who has created such a sensation in this country, has been secured for a three day engagement at the Empire Theater, starting Monday, August 9th.

Professor Clifford comes direct from a twenty-five week engagement in the east where he was the headline attraction at many of the largest houses. He is acknowledged the creator of the best in the hypnotic art and one of the greatest laugh producers before the public. He will demonstrate the methods used at the Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md., for the production of mental anesthesia and bloodless surgery, also a number of other very interesting tests, including the famous cataplexy test. Professor Clifford does not try to mystify you with the deep scientific side of Hypnotism but puts forth his efforts to amuse you and make you laugh with the uproariously funny possibilities of hypnotism.

SUDDEN CALL OF DEATH ANGEL

The death of Mrs. Malissa Curran, widow of the late John Curran, at ten o'clock Saturday morning, at her town residence on West Court street, followed a sudden attack of acute indigestion, at eight o'clock Friday night, terminating in heart failure.

For several years Mrs. Curran has not been in good health, but her death comes as a shock to a large circle of relatives and friends.

Mrs. Curran belonged to one of the oldest and wealthiest families of the county, being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Conner, and her family connection includes many prominent people of the county.

In recent years Mrs. Curran divided her time between the Curran country homestead, southwest of town, and her home in this city, where her death occurred.

She was 79 years of age, surviving her late husband but two years and a woman of great activity and many interests throughout her life.

Four daughters survive their parents, Mrs. S. H. Swartz, who has been with her mother since the death of Mr. Curran; Mrs. Wm. Spangler, Mrs. Frances Schellenger, and Miss Maude Curran, of Chicago, who will arrive here tonight.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

PRESIDENT IS PLEASED

Cornish, N. H., Aug. 7.—The conference on Mexican affairs at the state department was all but participated in by President Wilson personally. Mr. Wilson through a telephone conversation with Secretary of State Lansing not only kept himself informed as to the minute developments in the discussion between the secretary and the Latin-American diplomats, but personally directed the course which Mr. Lansing followed during the day. The president was in high spirits at the news given him by Secretary Lansing as to how the Latin-American diplomats had responded to the suggestions of the United States at the conference.

ALL IS QUIET ALONG VOSGES

Paris, Aug. 7.—The official communique issued was as follows: "There were artillery actions in Artois, between the Somme and the Oise, and in the valley of the Aisne. In the western portion of the Argonne the enemy bombarded our trenches very violently throughout the day with shells of all calibers. Our artillery and trench mortars replied to the bombardment. In the Apremont forest there was a lively bombardment. In the Vosges the day was calm."

The Colossus of Rhodes.
The remains of the Colossus of Rhodes have been dispersed beyond possibility of recovery or even of tracing. It stood for little more than half a century and then, in 224 B. C., was overthrown by an earthquake. The Rhodians raised from benevolent outsiders large sums of money for its restoration, but divided the fund among themselves, asserting that the oracle of Delphi had forbidden them to set it up again. So there the ruin lay until 672 A. D. when the Saracens sold it to a Jewish merchant, who loaded 900 camels and went away—literally—with the brass.—London Spectator.

CANNOT AGREE ON PROGRAM

Conferees Admit Something Must
Be Done In Mexico.

BUT HOW TO DO IT IS THE RUB

It Is Admitted That Carranza Will
Refuse to Meet With Villa and Za-
pata In Effort to Select Temporary
Head of Government—Major General Scott Sent to Border to Restore Order.

Washington, Aug. 7.—Having agreed
that a final peremptory summons shall
be sent to the Mexican factions to be
united for the establishment of a central government, the Pan-American
conference adjourned here for a recess of several days. The next meeting will be held in New York city.
While no date has been fixed for the
reassembly of the secretary of state
and the representatives of the Latin-American governments, it is expected
the session will be resumed sometime
next week.

In the meantime urgent representations will go forward to the several contending factions in Mexico. It is expected that these will be sent just
as soon as President Wilson has determined the precise form they are to take. While it has been suggested
that these representations might be
duplicated by the representatives of
the six governments invited to cooperate with the United States in disposing of the Mexican problem, the
understanding now is that the Latin-American governments' support of
them would be by implication, rather
than by direct communication with
the Mexicans.

Rumors of a split among the con-
ferees, first as between the United States representatives and the Latin-
Americans themselves, were indis-
tinctly circulated here, but these reports later were discredited. It is a fact, however, that though the two
days' sessions of the conference were
harmonious throughout and were conducted with all present in substantial
agreement, thus far the deliberations
have not brought the participants
very far from the original starting
point, namely, that something must be
done to restore a stable government
in Mexico. The only step fully determined upon is that the factional leaders in Mexico shall be given a last
opportunity to get together and choose
for themselves a new government to
be supported by all.

This conclusion was reached in substance at the first conference, and the
second meeting was taken up chiefly
with a discussion of what may be done
in the event that the final summons
is not heeded by all the factions. In other words, the conferees found
themselves up against the blunt fact
that Carranza will undoubtedly decline to meet with Villa, Zapata and
others merely as a factional leader,
and that it will therefore be necessary
to take alternative action to bring about the common desire in spite of Carranza. This intensely practical
question is now the issue before the
conferees, and discussion of it is to
be the main purpose of the next meeting.

It developed that there is a difference of opinion among the conferees
as to what action would be most suit-
able to meet the seemingly inevitable
fact of Carranza's refusal to co-oper-
ate. The discussion was maintained

Empire Theatre, Friday, Aug. 13th.

edy JAPLAND, "Or The Garden of the Mikado."

on such an informal basis that there
was no occasion for any disagreement,
but it did develop that the conferees
had varying views as to how the expected contingency should be handled.
It is agreed that some faction or
group other than that of Carranza
must receive unlimited support, but
just how this should be done or how
the other factions may best be consolidated for such purposes, is still an
open question.

The other interesting development
in Washington was the sending of Major General Hugh L. Scott, chief of staff, to the Mexican border. He will endeavor to restore to its original
status the agreement he effected last
winter between Villa and Carranza
leaders for the neutralization of Naco
and other border towns.

EUROPEAN NOTES TO THE FORE

Reply to German Communication
Nearly Completed.

ENGLISH DRAFT NOT STARTED

Believed State Department May Consider British Blockade In Light of Reprisal and Therefore Illegal—Will
Deny Right to Nullify International
Law to Suit Certain Geographical Situations of Belligerents.

Washington, Aug. 7.—In the inter-
val that is to elapse before a third
Pan-American conference on the Mexi-
can situation is held the attention of
the state department will be concentrated once more on several problems
growing out of the controversy with
the European belligerents. These matters have necessarily been pushed to
one side in the last few days as a result of the Mexican deliberations. The
two matters of greatest importance
are the replies to the German note in
the Frye case and the several British
notes defending the interference with American trade with neutral countries. The reply of the United States
in the Frye case has been drafted, and
probably will be submitted to the president in a day or two. No note to Great Britain has yet been drafted,
but much preliminary work has been
done on that subject and little delay
is expected.

It is likely that full advantage will
be taken by the administration of the
opportunity afforded by the British
reference to Germany's conduct as
justifying what England is doing.
Language quite similar to that used
in the notes to Germany, informing
her that the United States could not
admit into its controversy with Germany any of Germany's complaints

against Great Britain, probably will
be found in the note to Great Britain.
Aside from the legal aspect of the
situation, officials here are delighted
at the opportunity thus afforded them
to lay it on Great Britain in a way
which is likely to mollify those who
feel that the United States has been
giving Germany alone the rough edge
of its tongue.

Officials are considering the possibility of pressing this advantage still
further in the reply to Great Britain.
By some it is felt that the United States would be justified in declaring
that Great Britain in admitting that
her blockade is a retaliation for the
submarine operations of Germany has
acknowledged by implication that her
blockade is a reprisal and therefore
beyond the law. By others the opinion is held that Great Britain was
clever enough in writing her note to
stop just short of actually admitting
that her blockade measures are to be viewed as a reprisal. On the other hand, it is claimed that while this
may be true technically, as a matter of
fact the British have sought to justify
their blockade measures by claiming
them to be a necessary retaliation
against the illegal and inhumane practices of Germany and should be called
to account accordingly.

As the British note is being studied
other points to be raised in contravention of the British argument are being developed. It is now certain that the American reply will concede practically nothing of the British argument
and that it will evade the "deadly parallel" of the American civil war
cases by maintaining that the conclusions along this line drawn by the British really are not justified by the facts in the two situations. Great Britain will be charged with trying to
nullify circumstance due to the physical fact of geography; the United States will contend that it can not accept this view; that the rules of blockade or the application of them can be
altered to fit the geographical facts of
a particular situation.

PROMOTER IS UNDER ARREST

New York, Aug. 7.—Philip C. Wadsworth, one of the founders of the Cotton Growers' Co-operative society of Atlanta, Ga., was arrested by Postoffice inspectors Mayhew and Martin
in the offices of Raymond Pynchon & Co., brokers, of 111 Broadway. He was arraigned by United States Commissioner Houghton on a warrant charging him with using the mails to de-
fraud in a scheme to organize all the
cotton growers of the south so they
might throw off the shackles imposed
on them by cotton manipulators.

Wadsworth was vice president of
the cotton growers' society, which expected some day to issue $50,000,000
worth of capital stock and make all
the moneyed interests of the country
bend the knee. His home is in Texas
City. He was held in $2,500 bail.

PENROSE PROPOSES REDUCTION

Senator Sees Changed Conditions After War Ends.

Philadelphia, Aug. 7.—United States Senator Boies Penrose, in a speech at a dinner here, announced that he would introduce at the next session of congress a tariff bill that will contain reductions of 15 to 20 per cent on many of the duties in the Payne-Aldrich bill. The senator said: "For myself, I intend to introduce at the opening of the next congress a tariff bill protective in its nature, containing a horizontal reduction of 15 or 20 per cent on many of the duties contained in the Payne bill, but reinforcing some of the schedules, like the chemical schedule, to the extent that may be necessary to secure these industries in our country. This bill will protect us from the collapse which will occur on the close of the war in Europe and will furnish us money to prepare for the national defense, should any nation of Europe in arms desire to invade or assault us."

NINE NEGROES ARE HANGED

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 7.—In the south nine blacks were hanged, seven legally; two lynched, and a tenth being chased, within a period of twenty-four hours. Alabama led the list with four legal hangings, the governor refusing reprieves in each case. Robert Watkins and John Salter were hanged while a squad of militiamen stood guard for the murder and assault of Mrs. Mary Lassiter. George James was hanged for murder. Millard Carpenter was hanged at Birmingham for murder of John S. Camp, a white man.

Mississippi, outdone by Alabama numerically, hanged but three, but with two of them, Peter Bolen and Jim Scales, convicted of murdering another negro, much ceremony being used. The hanging was at Fresno, the gallows being erected between two hills in a natural amphitheater. Punyan Walker was hanged for murder.

Dispatches from Shawnee, Okla., tell of a mob which hanged Ed Berry to a Santa Fe railroad bridge.

At Tribby, Fla., a crowd, hypnotized with fury, lynched Will Leach, accused of attacking a thirteen-year-old girl.

At last reports a mob of 500 men was closing in on a negro near Liberty, Mo., who attacked a farmer's wife.

FINAL SESSION OF VERY SUCCESSFUL INSTITUTE

What is conceded to be the most successful teachers institute ever held in Fayette county came to a close Friday afternoon, with many interesting features to the closing session.

The first treat of the afternoon was the charming rendition of a piano solo by Mrs. B. E. Kelley, and in response to insistent applause she favored the audience with another equally pleasing number.

Prof. Pearson's closing talk was then given, and was like all of his addresses during the institute—of absorbing interest and filled with helpful thoughts. Professor Pearson was roundly applauded, and he "shook hands with himself" at having been privileged to be with the Fayette county teachers during the institute. Like Prof. Morgan, his efforts were appreciated, and he made a host of close friends among the men and women who are engaged in the work of teaching Fayette's more than 6,000 pupils.

The annual election of officers followed the address given by Prof. Pearson. Mr. Frank M. Allen was elected president and Miss Georgiana Kirk was elected treasurer.

Resolutions were submitted and adopted in which all persons contributing to the success of the event were thanked.

Then came one of the happiest events of the institute—the presentation, by Mr. Frank M. Allen, in behalf of the teachers assembled, of a handsome silk umbrella to Supt. McClain—an expression of the appreciation of his work in making the institute a tremendous success. Prof. McClain responded to the complimentary speech of Mr. Allen, thanking the teachers for their gift.

Mr. Orville Turner then presented to Mr. Allen a large box of flowers, presented by the Fayette county teachers.

The closing numbers on the program contributed by Mrs. Arthur Burgett, in two splendidly rendered vocal solos, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Kelley.

RUSSIANS GET READY TO RESIST

London, Aug. 7.—The position of the retreating Russians between the Vistula and the Bug rivers has grown more precarious as a result of the heavy rains of the past few days. The marshes in their rear hold the rising water, confining the movement of troops exclusively to a few roads. The retreat, therefore, is encountering increased difficulties.

London, Aug. 7.—With the exception of the great entrenched camp of Novogeorgievsk, the Russians have evacuated the whole line of the Vistula river. Ivangorod, the southern fortress, having fallen into the hands of the Austro-German army, the Russians are now making their way eastward to the Brest-Litovsk line.

The decision of the general staff to leave the garrison in Novogeorgievsk is announced in Petrograd dispatches. The object is to deprive the Germans of the use of railway communications and of the Vistula river for bringing up supplies for their armies.

Novogeorgievsk is situated at the junction of the Vistula, Narew and Wkra rivers, to the northwest of Warsaw. It has two powerful bridgeheads, eight citadels and seventy-four redoubts, containing 11-inch and 12-inch batteries. It is calculated here by military observers that an army corps can hold out there for many months, as the camp is protected by massive earthworks, which doubtless have been enlarged and improved since the Russians were compelled to begin their retirement.

The laying of siege to Novogeorgievsk may prove one of the most interesting operations of the war, as it doubtless will show whether earthworks are less susceptible to the fire of high explosives than are cupola forts.

Of the retiring Russian armies, the official reports say nothing. The Russians, however, destroyed the bridges over the Vistula and took other means to place obstacles in the path of their pursuers, while others of their forces continue to offer stubborn resistance to the Germans and Austrians south and north who are trying to forge a ring around them.

The general opinion here is that the Russians commenced their retirement in time to escape this inner ring, but they have yet to reckon with the wider outflanking movement from Lomza, which, if successful, would turn the Brest-Litovsk line.

An even more serious menace seemingly is General Von Buelow's advance in the Baltic provinces. While, according to Petrograd, the Germans have been thrown back immediately south of Riga, they have made a further advance east of Poniewesch toward the Dvinsk-Vilna-Petrograd railway.

Along the western front the Germans have made a series of attacks. French reports were repulsed.

The occupation of Warsaw now is centering attention on a series of important events that are being arranged. First will be the selection of a German governor. Reports indicate the appointee will be a German prince, possibly a son of the German emperor or an Austrian archduke, who will be vested with authority akin to that which Napoleon gave to his brothers and to his marshals as kings of occupied territory.

Berlin reports a council to be held on Sunday will formulate a proclamation declaring Poland to be a semi-autonomous state under joint Polish and Austro-Hungarian rule.

HAITIENS ARE PROTESTING

Port au Prince, Haiti, Aug. 7.—American naval forces took possession of the office of the port, the national palace and the Haitien gunboat Pacifique, which arrived in Port au Prince.

During the movement to take the office of the port the Americans opened fire on the Haitiens and one Haitien was killed.

The occupation of the office of the port and the national palace gave the Americans the last positions held by the Haitiens. The populace has been thrown into consternation by the operations of the Americans. The president of the senate, in the name of the nation, cabled Solon Menos, Haitien minister to the United States, a new protest against the occupation of Haitien territory by the American naval forces.

A LESSON FOR THE NURSE.

She Didn't Like It When She Was Paid In Her Own Coin.

A mother overheard her nurse girl talking to the child she was putting to sleep, and among other legends of the nursery in which she was indulged was this: "If you don't go to sleep this very minute a great, big, awful, black bear, with eyes like coals of fire and sharp, white, cruel teeth, will come out from under the bed and eat-a-y-o-u-a-l-l up!" The poor little thing nestled down under the clothes to dream of horrid bears eating her up.

That night when the stolid nurse had composed herself in her own comfortable bed and had put the light out there came a sudden rap at the door, and the voice of the mistress called loudly through the panels: "Maggie! Maggie! Get up as quick as you can! There's a burglar under your bed!" At the word "burglar" the girl sprang screaming from the bed, tore open the door and fell into hysterics in the hall.

The lesson was more instructive than the mistress designed, but when the girl's fears had calmed she said to her: "You did not hesitate to tell my delicate child, who could not possibly know that it was a lie, a cruel story about a bear under her bed. Now, when I treat you to the same kind of a story, you are nearly frightened to death. Tomorrow you can go into the kitchen and work there. You are not fit to care for little children."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

State Department Says No Faction Is in Control of Chaotic Mexico at Present Time.

CARRANZA WILLING TO BE A PARTY TO PEACE CONFERENCE

Revolution Ended Year Ago, is Decision of United States, and Factional Disturbances Must Speedily End—New President Will Be One Concerned in Overthrow of Huerta, But Not Necessarily Representing Any Faction at Present—Carranza Asks Recognition.

By Associated Press.

Washington, August 7.—The Mexican situation moved forward with two important developments today. General Carranza signified his willingness to meet his adversaries in a peace conference, and an authoritative announcement was made of the views with which the United States is approaching the problem in the Pan-American conference. The position of the United States was officially stated as follows:

That neither Carranza nor any other military faction in Mexico is in control of the country, or can be considered as triumphant in the republic.

That the real purpose of the revolution was accomplished a year ago, when Huerta was overthrown, and that the strife which has continued since has been over factional differences and has not been in reality a revolution.

That it considers General Villa, while financially weakened, still an active element in Mexican affairs, who must be reckoned with in an adjustment.

That the so-called Cientificos do not enter into the problem now, because it is considered that the overthrow of Huerta disposed of that element.

That the greater portion of Mexico is not at peace, as General Carranza claims, because fighting continues in many sections.

That the first problem to be solved in restoration of peace is to find for provisional president, a man who represents the cause of the original revolution against Huerta, but who does not necessarily represent any of the factions now at war.

This outline is the first authoritative statement of the basis upon which the United States is proceeding.

Washington, August 7.—On behalf of General Carranza, a formal brief on the Mexican situation was filed with Secretary Lansing today, practically asking for political recognition and proposing that Carranza's Washington agents meet any of the other factions in a peace conference. The brief, submitted by Charles A. Douglas, General Carranza's American consul, sets forth the formal suggestion of a peace conference.

It says that two prominent Carranza men now in Washington, Mr. Arredondo and Mr. Cabrera, "are men of fine ability and excellent character and are anxious to serve their country in the highest and best sense."

WOULD ENVELOP ENTIRE ARMIES

Grand Duke's Forces Not Yet Free From Mighty Steel Pincers Wielded by Germans—Advance Upon Riga Temporarily Halted—Germans Welcomed Into Warsaw as Liberators, Claim Teutons—Fort on Vistula Proves Thorn in Flesh of Invaders—Italians Win Big Battle.

By Associated Press.

London, August 7.—Holding the bridge heads at Warsaw over the Vistula river, the most formidable military obstacle in eastern Europe, Germany and Austria-Hungary, having conquered the river line and with it invaded Russian territory for an average depth of 100 miles along the front from the Baltic to Bukovina, now are throwing their forces forward in an endeavor to accomplish what Russia's allies have feared—the complete envelopment of the Russian army.

The British press, basing its opinions on Petrograd dispatches and the lack of reports to the contrary from either Berlin or Vienna, is inclined to the view that the forces of Grand Duke Nicholas retired from Warsaw virtually intact, but there is an increasing disposition not to minimize the seriousness of the situation as it still exists, and the anxiety seems to be manifested in renewed pressure to bring the Balkan states in line on the side of the entente powers.

Quiescent Sweden is now restless, and even so conservative a newspaper as the London Morning Post finds cause for comment in Sweden's growing hostility to Russia, as stimulated by German successes in Poland.

Whether the present Balkan negotiations will be more fruitful from the entente standpoint than were previous attempts to align these states against Germany and Turkey is debatable, especially so as Greece, according to Athens dispatches quoting Premier Gounaris, refuses to consider the relinquishing of any territory to Bulgaria, a concession which might clear the situation.

Though still holding Nova Georgievsk, the whole Russian garrison remains at bay. Thus, the Russian armies not only are menaced back of Warsaw salient, from which it is assumed they were not entirely clear before heavy German forces broke across the Vistula to the southeast of Warsaw; but a larger and more formidable enveloping movement has taken definite form, being in effect a great pair of pincers, aiming at Dvinsk in the north and at Brest Litovsk in the south, and superimposed on a smaller pair which sought and still seeks to crush the Russian forces in and around Warsaw.

There is the chance that the grip of the smaller pair may not be effective, and it will take some time to demonstrate whether the more ambitious movement succeeds.

Paris, August 7.—After a desperate battle, the Italians have stormed and captured the summit of Monte San Michele, which dominates Gorizia, says a Petite Journal dispatch from Turin.

The fall of Gorizia, 22 miles north west of Trieste, on the Isonzo, now is believed imminent, the dispatch adds.

Paris, August 7.—An Italian submarine is reported to have been sunk in an encounter with an Austrian submarine in the Adriatic Sea.

Berlin, August 7.—The German troops were welcomed to undamaged Warsaw as liberators, according to the report forwarded to Berlin by a special correspondent of the Lokai Anzeiger, who places emphasis on the statement that the city was evacuated without conflict.

The inhabitants, he says, filled the streets and welcomed the marching troops with every sign of real enthusiasm and rejoicing.

The Tageblatt Warsaw correspondent confirms this report, and says the streets were filled with Poles, Jews, Germans and Russians, who waved their hats joyfully to the German soldiers.

Many of the inhabitants were even standing in the vicinity of the castle, although an infantry battle with the Russians was proceeding to the east of the building.

Electric street cars were running as usual, and almost all shops were open. Very little damage had been done in the city proper.

The offensive of the armies of Archduke Joseph Ferdinand and Field Marshal von Mackensen continues, he adds, and the effect on the yet unchanged East Galician front is likely soon to make itself felt.

Berlin, August 7.—Fort Dembe, comprising part of the Warsaw fortifications on the right bank of the Vistula river, has been captured by German troops, according to an official statement given out today by the German army headquarters.

Petrograd, August 7.—Warsaw was evacuated by the Russians without struggle, in its immediate vicinity, in order that the city might escape damage. War munitions and railroad rolling stock had previously been removed. A large force of Russians remained close to the city, prepared to contest any effort by the Germans to cross the Vistula in pursuit.

Nova Georgievsk, invested on three sides, still has railroad communication to the southeast. The fortress presents a serious obstacle to the co-operation of the German forces at Warsaw and those along the Narva.

The Germans appear to have abandoned their advance on Riga for the present, but it will soon be the scene of activity, it is believed.

Berlin, August 7.—A German report today says the Belgians in Flanders have been forced by artillery fire to partly evacuate advanced positions south of Dixmude.

The report also says that in the eastern theater German armies have broken the resistance of the Russians near Lomza and the mouth of the river Bug; that the troops investing Nova Georgievsk have penetrated as far as the Narva river, and that the Russians continue to bombard Warsaw positions from the east bank of the Vistula.

ANOTHER EPOCH IN WOOL THIEF CASE

Through their efforts to compromise, Theodore Giffin and E. K. Polk, victims of the thievery of Bert and John Eubanks, may involve themselves in a serious charge, according to information received in this city Monday. The two Eubanks brothers were arrested several weeks ago after they had stolen automobile tires, a considerable amount of wool from these and other farmers of Greene, Ross and neighboring counties.

Sheriff Swepston stated this morning that he had been notified by Sheriff South of Sabina, that Polk and Giffin had attempted to compromise for their losses with persons interested in the cases of the two brothers, who are at present confined in the county jail, and that the residents of that part of the county are very much enraged because of their action. Sheriff Swepston further declared that Polk and Giffin are guilty of aiding and abetting the prisoners if they did attempt to compromise.—Chillicothe News.

GENUINE NOVELTY COMING TO THE EMPIRE THEATER

John W. Vogle, whose every endeavor has been given to minstrelsy, has forsaken the beaten path and this season stands sponsor for "Japland," an operatic minstrel farce-comedy, the newest big thing in theatricals; newest because of the conception that solders the link that binds minstrelsy to a modern musical girl show. The book calls for two acts and fourteen scenes, all massive, vivid impressions of picturesque Japan, the land of quaint costumes, profuse coloring and tinsel. The cast is necessarily large for two complete organizations are required for the presentation, also Mr. Vogle's lyric band and double symphony orchestra. The story is so arranged that the first part of a minstrel show is happily blended with scenes and melodies from our best liked operas and, at the same time, allows sufficient scope for the introduction of the more recent song successes, novel specialties and dancing numbers of the tango-maxixe type, the large girl chorus enjoying the distinction of being the fastest dancing contingent ever seen in musical farce. "Japland" will have its initial local hearing at the Empire Theater, Friday, August 13, the seat sale starting Monday, at Leland's News Stand.

SNAKE STORY WITH A LAUGH IN IT

Samuel Karshner, of Tarlton had a most thrilling experience with a snake says the Adelphi Border News and as a result his ears are badly torn and swollen.

Mr. Karshner was chasing his neighbor's chickens out of his garden and in his attempt to look through a broken board in the fence succeeded in getting his head caught between the boards which were nailed boot-jack shape, being wide at the bottom. Mr. Karshner got down on his knees and thrust his head, ears and all through the boot-jack shaped boards, and was startled to find a vicious snake within a few inches of his head. He drew his head up as far as he could, while the coiled snake, head up, all the time was darting its fangs and striking his face.

Cries brought neighbors to his assistance, the snake vanished, but not until he had nearly torn off his ears.

THE CUT-OUT

Those residents who work late and cannot rise early; those who have sickness are loudly complaining of the practice of local motor owners and operators, whether they be automobile or motorcycle, by opening the mufflers on their machines and making an unearthly noise which sounds like a machine gun in operation. In many cities this is made a misdemeanor and punished, and it is time something of the kind be done in Chillicothe. The anti-noise crusade should begin here in earnest. In Cincinnati, Columbus, New York or any other city, where this damnable practice exists the offenders are speedily punished. The city council and the automobile club ought to fight together to abolish it.

Scientific engineers who have tested out gas engines give the verdict that absolutely no gain in efficiency is given by opening the cut-out, so the noise is not at all necessary except to make some chauffeur feel that he is attracting attention.—Chillicothe Gazette.

FOUR MACHINE GUNS WILL BE TRIED OUT

Four automatic machine rifles and equipment, costing approximately $85,000 have arrived in Cincinnati for the First Ohio Infantry, and the guns will be part of the equipment at Yellow Springs next week when the regiment goes into camp there.

The equipment for the guns is very extensive. There are barrel cases, extractor mittens, asbestos palms, cooling sponges, breech blocks, gas cylinders and cleaners, and pack saddles for mules to carry the guns; for the company of men, haversacks, shirts, shoes, canteens, coats, hats, &c.

UNION MEETING

The union service of the churches next Sunday evening, will be held at the Church of Christ, at 7:30. A. W. West, pastor of the First Baptist church will preach. All members of choirs, and other singers, are requested to come and make up a large union choir.

CHAS. BISH JOHNSON.

To the Citizens of Washington C. H., Ohio:

I wish to say, as a Republican candidate for nomination and election for Mayor, that my chief aim is for a good, clean administration, with strict enforcement of all laws, as they appear on the statutes, with partiality to none.

As yet I have not thought of any appointees for any position but I hope to be able to find men to fill such appointments, who will assist me in making Washington a good law abiding city.

If I am elected, I will go into office with but one promise and this promise is to all, viz:

"STRICT LAW ENFORCEMENT"

Your support will be appreciated at the Nomination next Tuesday, August 10th.

How Peace Comes

There is no fixed rule governing the cessation of war. Wars end in many ways, and no one would be safe in now predicting how the present struggle will come to an end. But it will have to end—that is the only good thing in connection with it.

Neutral nations are seldom able to bring peace to warring nations, although neutrals are valuable in adjusting the final settlement of the terms of peace. As a general proposition neutrals are called in to aid and advise, but it must be the warring nations themselves that finally fix the terms.

During the war between Russia and Japan, President Roosevelt sent identical notes to the two nations. He suggested that the struggle had reached a point where it ought to be desirable to end it, but did not, of course, intimate that either country was whipped. He offered his "good offices" to both nations, in the event they desired to get together and arrange terms of peace. Each country accepted his offer, an armistice was decreed, and representatives of the two nations met in this country, the conference being presided over by a representative of the United States government, and peace was patched up between the warring nations. The armies were then withdrawn from the various fields and the treaty of peace put into effect. Had the two nations been unable to come to terms, the armistice would have been declared off, and the armies would again have begun combat.

Other wars have been ended by one or the other of the contestants having friends "feel out" the opponent to ascertain what sort of terms could be obtained. When it was seen that the opponent would not make unreasonable terms, then a cessation of hostilities was asked until a conference could be held.

In the event that the Allies or the Germans should ask for a peace conference, each nation would be represented by a delegate. The demands or conditions of peace would be written by each side, and discussed in the conference. Each side would try to persuade the other to grant the terms asked, and a final compromise would be effected. Then a peace protocol would be signed—a sort of preliminary treaty, which would be followed by a more permanent treaty involving the terms agreed upon. Hostilities usually cease when a peace conference is asked, and neither side is allowed to proceed with fortifying or equipping armies during the pendency of the conference. The battle lines may be drawn up ready for action at a moment's notice and remain in battle array for weeks at a time, neither side doing anything to improve its condition. In such events the soldiers usually fraternize, and by the time the treaties are signed the men lately at each other's throats in death grapple, are the best of friends.

The United States will hardly be called into the peace agreements between the present combatants. Germany has already stated, although unofficially, that she would not ask the United States to participate, and of course we wouldn't offer to do so unless invited. So it is probable that other neutrals, such as Switzerland and the Scandinavian countries, will have much more to do with the ending of the war than will the United States.—Dayton Daily News.

Poetry For Today

FORGET THEE!

"Forget thee?"—If to dream by night and muse on thee by day, If all the worship, deep and wild, a poet's heart can pay, If prayers in absence breathed for thee to heaven's protecting power, If winged thoughts that flit to thee—a thousand in an hour, If busy Fancy, blending thee with all my future lot— If this thou call'st "forgetting," thou indeed shalt be forgot!

"Forget thee?"—Bled the forest-birds forget their sweetest tune; "Forget thee?"—Bled the sea forget to swell beneath the moon; Bled the thirsty flowers forget to drink the eve's refreshing dew; Thyself forget thine "own dear land" and its "mountains wild and blue;" Forget each old, familiar face, each long-remembered spot— When these things are forgot by thee, then thou shalt be forgot.

Keep, if thou wilt, thy maiden peace, still calm and fancy free, For God forbid they gladsome heart should grow less glad for me; Yet, while that heart is still unwon, O bid not mine to rove, But let it nurse its humble faith and uncomplaining love; If these, preserved for patient years at last avail me not, Forget me then—but ne'er believe that thou canst be forgot. —John Moultrie.

Tobacco Production.

India, second only to this country in the production of tobacco, consumes most of its own product and imports very little. Russia is third and raises practically all her supply, importing and exporting only a small quantity. Austria-Hungary is the fourth producing country, importing more than a fourth as much as it raises and exports one-eighth of its own crop. Germany is an extensive grower of tobacco, but imports two and a half times as much as it cultivates and does not export any. France raises considerable tobacco under government supervision and imports great quantities of the milder Virginia tobaccos to keep up the quality of the cigarettes and other products made under the state monopoly. Both France and Spain keep buyers in this market.

We are always knocking the liar. Yet we all know that no man can be polite and tell the truth all the time.

A woman is quick to detect flattery when the flattery is being aimed at some other woman.

When a woman gets to a stage where she doesn't care how her hat looks and when she never worries because her nose is shiny she is entitled to a vote.

Every now and then you run into a pest who has nothing to say and who holds you up for an hour while he says it.

A boy always pities a pet dog that is kissed by women.

There is one good thing about every man. And that is his opinion of himself.

The reason why a handsome and shapely young girl marries a wealthy old man for love alone is because if you throw a baseball up in the air it will stay there.

A man doesn't often regret that he married his wife. But he often wonders why he married her.

A photographer can make another man's wife look pleasant and keep her mouth shut, but he can't make his own wife do it.

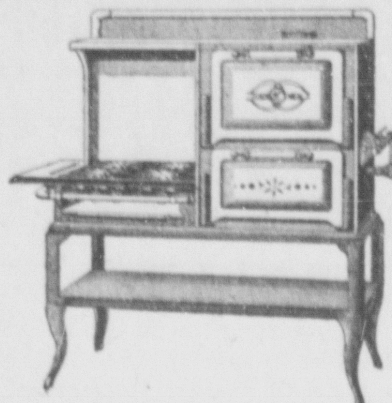

A man doesn't mind being called level headed, but don't try to call him flat headed.

Once in awhile you will hear a woman who has a fair to middling mustache bawling her husband out because he needs a shave.

The man who doesn't get into the argument is always suspected of knowing something about the question being argued.

There never was a married man who was not fond of his wife's husband.

DONALD MACKENZIE

Donald Mackenzie has set a high name for himself in the realms of filmdom. He likes to tell the story of how he was thrust into the directing game, "forced," he says; but is modest on the subject of being to the manner born. He was working in a Pathe picture some three years ago in the studios in Jersey City, playing the lead, when the director was taken suddenly ill. Of course, this caused much commotion, there being no one to continue the work and get the picture out, and plans were all upset. Chief Director Louis Gasnier, now General Manager, sent for "Mac" and asked him if he could direct the picture as well as act. Mr. Mackenzie hesitated about taking on the responsibilities of the job, but Mr. Gasnier said that he had watched him at work and knew he was equal to the task. Mr. Mackenzie, with the intuition of the canny Scot at last agreed to complete the picture, and made such a success of it that he has been making pictures for Pathe ever since. "So you see I was 'forced' into being a director, with Mr. Gasnier as the propelling force!" he says.

WHISPERING GALLERIES.

Old World Churches With Remarkable Acoustic Properties.

The most celebrated whispering gallery is that which surrounds the base of the interior of the dome of St. Paul's cathedral, London. A person speaking near its surface can be heard distinctly by one listening near the smooth wall at the other extremity of the diameter, but not elsewhere.

In the cathedral of Gloucester a whispering passage leads from one aisle to the opposite behind the east window of the choir. It is seventy-five feet long, six and a half feet high and three feet wide in the form of half an irregular octagon. The walls and ceilings are of freestone, and the slightest whisper travels from end to end.

The cathedral of the Taj Mahal in Agra, India, has most marvelous echoes and reverberating qualities, but is scarcely a whispering gallery. The whole cathedral of Girgenti, in Sicily, has this character owing to the peculiar structure of its walls. These remarkable properties also belonged to the "Ear of Dionysius," cut in the rock at Syracuse in the shape of a parabolic curve, ending in an elliptical arch. It is said that the tyrant seated in a small chamber over a hundred feet from the spot occupied by his captives by this means could hear every word spoken by his prisoners.—London Answers.

GUNPOWDER IN WAR.

For Centuries Its Use Was Opposed in the Name of Humanity.

There was a period when any kind of "explosive" fighting in war was considered barbarous. The discovery of gunpowder put a stop to the old fashioned method of attack, in which only missiles and sharp edged weapons were considered ethical, but gunpowder did not come into approval without a struggle. In fact, it was under the "humanity" ban for almost three centuries.

This remarkable compound of saltpeter, sulphur and charcoal, which was given its first tryout at the siege of Constantinople in 1453, had been known to both the chemist and the soldier for a hundred years or more. It is said to have been discovered by Roger Bacon in England about the year 1290 and by a German monk named Schwarz twenty years later. Another independent discoverer of the same dangerous mixture was an unknown and uncelebrated Moor, whose secret was ultimately carried into Europe in the fourteenth century. Even he was not the first to make an explosive compound. The Chinese "beat him to it," having used this same kind of mixture for rocket signals before the Christian era.

The fall of Constantinople was brought about by the use, the wholly unethical and altogether barbarous use, of cannon balls, and it was not until about a century later that the world gave its full sanction to the killing of men by means of gunpowder.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Ballot, Not the Bullet, Is the Solution of War

By Rabbi PEREIRA MENDES, New York City

Right of Self Government Should Not Be Confined to One Sex

By Justice CHARLES L. GUY, Supreme Court of New York

AS children of humanity the war shocks us, with its negation of humanity and religion. Let there be a court of compulsory arbitration.

Let public opinion be educated to this. The solution of war is the ballot, not the bullet. Voters must vote only for those candidates for legislature who are pledged to promote compulsory arbitration before nations attack each other. WITH ARREST AND DEATH PENALTY FOR THE RESPONSIBLE HEADS OF THE OFFENDING NATION BY THE COMBINED ARMIES OF THE WORLD, ONE STERN LESSON WOULD BE ENOUGH.

A year ago such a proposition seemed unthinkable. Today, with millions of brave men killed or maimed, millions of women widowed, millions of orphans weeping, no remedy can be too harsh.

THE WORLD IS SICK OF WAR. LET JUSTICE BE HEARD, BUT LET MERCY PREVAIL. LET US FORGIVE, FORGET AND FORBEAR. THEN ONLY WILL WORLD PEACE AND HEART PEACE PREVAIL.

If the right of self government, as I maintain, is an inherent right, why should it be confined to human beings of one sex?

Seriously, if democracy means anything it means that all who are governed, all sane adult persons whose lives or welfare or material interests are affected by the character of the government and the laws, SHOULD HAVE A VOICE IN THE MAKING OF THOSE LAWS AND A VOICE IN THE CHOOSING OF THAT GOVERNMENT.

The whole struggle as to the recognition or nonrecognition of woman as a political factor is the age old conflict between special privilege on the one hand and the great body of the people on the other. It is a battle between democracy and autocracy. Every argument advanced today against the franchise to women has also been ADVANCED AGAINST MAN'S HIGHER DEVELOPMENT, AGAINST EVERY EFFORT MADE BY HIM TO RAISE HIMSELF TO A HIGHER PLANE AND TO THE ENJOYMENT OF A LARGER LIBERTY.

EVERY BUSINESS MAN IN CITY IS INVITED

Conference With High B. & O. Officials to Be Held at Y. M. C. A. and Lunch Served Monday Noon—Large Number of Local Citizens Not Only Invited But Urged to Be Present to Aid in Obtaining New Union Station Here.

Every business and professional man and other citizens who have the welfare of Washington at heart are urged to be at the Y. M. C. A. next Monday, at not later than 11:45 a. m., for the purpose of meeting high B. & O. railroad officials who come here to discuss the proposed new Union Station in this city.

Lunch will be served at the Y. M. C. A. at the above hour, and the officials have been invited to join local business men at luncheon, after which the depot project will be discussed, and if possible, something definite agreed upon.

The committee of the Dutch Treat Club having the project in hand held a meeting Saturday afternoon, when definite announcement was made that First Vice President of the B. & O.—the "man who does things," Supt. Brooks of the Ohio Division of the road and other officials, would be here Monday noon for the purpose of taking up the depot project.

The matter of a new Union Station has proceeded further than the average citizen knows, and something definite is expected from the conference Monday noon. Mr. Thompson was to have been in this city for a conference today, but was summoned to St. Louis and wired that he would be here, without fail, Monday, leaving Cincinnati at ten o'clock Monday morning.

It is desired that the largest body of representative citizens assembling together in recent years, be at the Y. M. C. A. at the appointed hour. Each man pays 25c for the luncheon.

PROTESTS ARISING OVER OPENING STREET

Protests are beginning to arise over the opening of West Court street for improvement next week, owing to the fact that the Fayette County Fair will be held week after next and a detour from the main thoroughfare to the Fair Grounds will be necessary if the street is torn up by the contractors.

If the street is blocked by the improvement detours by way of West Temple street or Oakland avenue will be necessary.

Under present arrangements the contractors will place their steam shovel to work on West Court street Monday of next week.

SCOUTS ARRANGE FOR AN OVERNIGHT HIKE

The Boy Scouts have arranged to take what is known to scout lore as an "overnight hike" next week.

They are to leave the Y. M. C. A. in a body and equipped for hiking, at 5 p. m. Tuesday. After a tramp of three or four miles they will go into camp and prepare a camp supper. They will spend the night in camp, sleeping in their blankets around the campfire. In the morning they will prepare breakfast before starting on the hike home. Provisions suitable for campfire cooking will be taken on the jaunt.

PROF. WM. MCCLAIN WILL TEACH CLASS

During the absence of Rev. Ross, who is at Russell's Point enjoying a much needed rest, Supt. Wm. McClain will teach the big Bible class at Grace church, and his theme for Sunday morning is "The Responsibility of Adults to the Youth of our Community," and will be of general interest.

Owing to his position at the head of the Washington schools and years of work in other schools, Prof. McClain is peculiarly fitted for discussing the above topic.

SIX SITES ARE NOW CONSIDERED

Tomorrow's Game.

While Wilmington-Washington ball games, like any other contest in which two cities are pitted against one another, is always a matter of intense interest, it is probable that the game between the Athletics and the Clintons at Wilmington tomorrow has come in for more attention than any competition of the towns in years.

Both the Clintons and the Athletics have in the field at the present time about the best teams in the history of either city. Each team has won two games in a series of six to be played. The fact makes tomorrow's game of more interest, of any of the four previous games and should draw the largest crowd of the season.

The game is to be played at North End park, Wilmington, beginning at 3 p. m. The local players will leave for Wilmington in automobiles at noon and will be accompanied by a large bunch of rooters.

It has not been announced what is to be done in the event that each team wins three games in the series. Manager Noon dismisses the

The death of Mrs. Malissa Curran, widow of the late John Curran, at ten o'clock Saturday morning, at her town residence on West Court street, followed a sudden attack of acute indigestion, at eight o'clock Friday night, terminating in heart failure.

For several years Mrs. Curran has not been in good health, but her death comes as a shock to a large circle of relatives and friends.

Mrs. Curran belonged to one of the oldest and wealthiest families of the county, being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Conner, and her family connection includes many prominent people of the county.

In recent years Mrs. Curran divided her time between the Curran country homestead, southwest of town, and her home in this city, where her death occurred.

She was 79 years of age, surviving her late husband but two years and a woman of great activity and many interests throughout her life.

Four daughters survive their parents, Mrs. S. H. Swartz, who has been with her mother since the death of Mr. Curran; Mrs. Wm. Spangler, Mrs. Frances Schellenger, and Miss Maude Curran, of Chicago, who will arrive here tonight.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

PRESIDENT IS PLEASED

Cornish, N. H., Aug. 7.—The conference on Mexican affairs at the state department was all but participated in by President Wilson personally. Mr. Wilson through telephone conversations with Secretary of State Lansing not only kept himself informed as to the minute developments in the discussion between the secretary and the Latin-American diplomats, but personally directed the course which Mr. Lansing followed during the day. The president was in high spirits at the news given him by Secretary Lansing as to how the Latin-American diplomats had responded to the suggestions of the United States at the conference.

ALL IS QUIET ALONG VOSGES

Paris, Aug. 7.—The official communique issued was as follows: "There were artillery actions in Artois, between the Somme and the Oise, and in the valley of the Aisne. In the western portion of the Argonne the enemy bombarded our trenches very violently throughout the day with shells of all calibers. Our artillery and trench mortars replied to the bombardment. In the Apremont forest there was a lively bombardment. In the Vosges the day was calm."

The Colossus of Rhodes.
The remains of the Colossus of Rhodes have been dispersed beyond possibility of recovery or even of tracing. It stood for little more than half a century and then, in 224 B. C., was overthrown by an earthquake. The Rhodians raised from benevolent outsiders large sums of money for its restoration, but divided the fund among themselves, asserting that the oracle of Delphi had forbidden them to set it up again. So there the ruin lay until 672 A. D., when the Saracens sold it to a Jewish merchant, who loaded 900 camels and went away—literally—with the brass.—London Spectator.

Conferees Admit Something Must
Be Done In Mexico.

BUT HOW TO DO IT IS THE RUB

It Is Admitted That Carranza Will
Refuse to Meet With Villa and Za-
pata In Effort to Select Temporary
Head of Government—Major General Scott Sent to Border to Restore Order.

Washington, Aug. 7.—Having agreed
that a final peremptory summons shall
be sent to the Mexican factions to be
united for the establishment of a central government, the Pan-American
conference adjourned here for a recess of several days. The next meeting will be held in New York city.
While no date has been fixed for the
re-assembling of the secretary of state
and the representatives of the Latin-American governments, it is expected
the session will be resumed sometime
next week.

In the meantime urgent representations will go forward to the several
contending factions in Mexico. It is expected that these will be sent just
as soon as President Wilson has de-
termined the precise form they are to
take. While it has been suggested
that these representations might be
duplicated by the representatives of
the six governments invited to co-
operate with the United States in dis-
posing of the Mexican problem, the
understanding now is that the Latin-American governments' support of
them would be by implication, rather
than by direct communication with
the Mexicans.

Rumors of a split among the con-
ferees, first as between the United States representatives and the Latin-
Americans themselves, were indis-
tinctly circulated here, but these reports later were discredited. It is a
fact, however, that though the two
days' sessions of the conference were
harmonious throughout and were conducted with all present in substantial
agreement, thus far the deliberations
have not brought the participants
very far from the original starting
point, namely, that something must be
done to restore a stable government
in Mexico. The only step fully determined upon is that the factional leaders in Mexico shall be given a last
opportunity to get together and choose
for themselves a new government to
be supported by all.

This conclusion was reached in sub-
stance at the first conference, and the
second meeting was taken up chiefly
with a discussion of what may be done
in the event that the final summons
is not heeded by all the factions. In
other words, the conferees found
themselves up against the blunt fact
that Carranza will undoubtedly decline to meet with Villa, Zapata and
others merely as a factional leader,
and that it will therefore be necessary
to take alternative action to bring
about the common desire in spite of Carranza. This intensely practical
question is now the issue before the
conferees, and discussion of it is to
be the main purpose of the next meeting.

It developed that there is a difference of opinion among the conferees
as to what action would be most suit-
able to meet the seemingly inevitable
fact of Carranza's refusal to co-oper-
ate. The discussion was maintained

on such an informal basis that there
was no occasion for any disagreement,
but it did develop that the conferees
had varying views as to how the expected contingency should be handled.
It is agreed that some faction or
group other than that of Carranza
must receive unlimited support, but
just how this should be done or how
the other factions may best be con-
solidated for such purposes, is still an
open question.

The other interesting development
in Washington was the sending of Major General Hugh L. Scott, chief of
staff, to the Mexican border. He will
endeavor to restore to its original
status the agreement he effected last
winter between Villa and Carranza
leaders for the neutralization of Naco
and other border towns.

EUROPEAN NOTES TO THE FORE

Reply to German Communication
Nearly Completed.

ENGLISH DRAFT NOT STARTED

Believed State Department May Consider British Blockade In Light of Reprisal and Therefore Illegal—Will
Deny Right to Nullify International
Law to Suit Certain Geographical
Situations of Belligerents.

Washington, Aug. 7.—In the inter-
val that is to elapse before a third
Pan-American conference on the Mexi-
can situation is held the attention of
the state department will be concentrated once more on several problems
growing out of the controversy with
the European belligerents. These matters have necessarily been pushed to
one side in the last few days as a result of the Mexican deliberations. The
two matters of greatest importance
are the replies to the German note in
the Frye case and the several British
notes defending the interference with American trade with neutral countries. The reply of the United States
in the Frye case has been drafted, and
probably will be submitted to the
president in a day or two. No note to Great Britain has yet been drafted,
but much preliminary work has been
done on that subject and little delay
is expected.

It is likely that full advantage will
be taken by the administration of the
opportunity afforded by the British
reference to Germany's conduct as
justifying what England is doing.
Language quite similar to that used
in the notes to Germany, informing
her that the United States could not
admit into its controversy with Ger-
many any of Germany's complaints

against Great Britain, probably will
be found in the note to Great Britain.

Aside from the legal aspect of the
situation, officials here are delighted
at the opportunity thus afforded them
to lay it on Great Britain in a way
which is likely to mollify those who
feel that the United States has been
giving Germany alone the rough edge
of its tongue.

Officials are considering the possibility of pressing this advantage still
further in the reply to Great Britain.
By some it is felt that the United States would be justified in declaring
that Great Britain in admitting that
her blockade is a retaliation for the
submarine operations of Germany has
acknowledged by implication that her
blockade is a reprisal and therefore
beyond the law. By others the opinion is held that Great Britain was
clever enough in writing her note to
stop just short of actually admitting
that her blockade measures are to be
viewed as a reprisal. On the other
hand, it is claimed that while this
may be true technically, as a matter of
fact the British have sought to justify
their blockade measures by claiming
them to be a necessary retaliation
against the illegal and inhumane practices of Germany and should be called
to account accordingly.

As the British note is being studied
other points to be raised in contravention of the British argument are being
developed. It is now certain that the American reply will concede practically nothing of the British argument
and that it will evade the "deadly parallel" of the American civil war
cases by maintaining that the conclusions along this line drawn by the British really are not justified by the
facts in the two situations. Great Britain will be charged with trying to
nullify circumstance due to the physical fact of geography; the United States will contend that it can not accept this view; that the rules of block-
ade or the application of them can be
altered to fit the geographical facts of
a particular situation.

PROMOTER IS UNDER ARREST

New York, Aug. 7.—FRED C. Wadsworth, one of the founders of the Cotton Growers' Co-operative Society of Atlanta, Ga., was arrested by Post-
office Inspectors Mayhew and Martin
in the offices of R. and Pyncheon & Co., brokers, of 111 Broadway. He was
arraigned by United States Commissioner Houghton on a warrant charg-
ing him with using the mails to de-
fraud in a scheme to organize all the
cotton growers of the south so they
might throw off the shackles imposed
on them by cotton manipulators.

Wadsworth was vice president of
the cotton growers' society, which expected some day to issue $50,000,000
worth of capital stock and make all
the moneyed interests of the country
bend the knee. His home is in Texas
City. He was held in $2,500 bail.

PENROSE PROPOSES REDUCTION

Senator Sees Changed Conditions After War Ends.

Philadelphia, Aug. 7.—United States Senator Boies Penrose, in a speech at a dinner here, announced that he would introduce at the next session of congress a tariff bill that will contain reductions of 15 to 20 per cent on many of the duties in the Payne-Al-drich bill. The senator said: "For myself, I intend to introduce at the opening of the next congress a tariff bill protective in its nature, con-taining a horizontal reduction of 15 or 20 per cent on many of the duties contained in the Payne bill, but re-inforcing some of the schedules, like the chemical schedule, to the extent that may be necessary to secure these in-dustries in our country. This bill will protect us from the collapse which will occur on the close of the war in Europe and will furnish us money to prepare for the national defense, should any nation of Europe in arms desire to invade or assault us."

NINE NEGROES ARE HANGED

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 7.—In the south nine blacks were hanged, seven legally; two lynched, and a tenth being chased, within a period of twenty-four hours. Alabama led the list with four legal hangings, the governor refusing reprieves in each case. Robert Watkins and John Salter were hanged while a squad of militiamen stood guard for the murder and assault of Mrs. Mary Lassiter. George James was hanged for murder. Millard Carpenter was hanged at Birmingham for murder of John S. Camp, a white man. Mississippi, outdone by Alabama numerically, hanged but three, but with two of them, Peter Bolen and Jim Scales, convicted of murdering another negro, much ceremony being used. The hanging was at Fresco, the gallows being erected between two hills in a natural amphitheater. Punyan Walker was hanged for murder.

Dispatches from Saawnee, Okla., tell of a mob which hanged Ed Berry to a Santa Fe railroad bridge. At Tribby, Fla., a crowd, hypnotized with fury, lynched Will Leach, accused of attacking a thirteen-year-old girl.

At last reports a mob of 500 men was closing in on a negro near Liberty, Mo., who attacked a farmer's wife.

FINAL SESSION OF VERY SUCCESSFUL INSTITUTE

What is conceded to be the most successful teachers institute ever held in Fayette county came to a close Friday afternoon, with many interesting features to the closing session.

The first treat of the afternoon was the charming rendition of a piano solo by Mrs. B. E. Kelley, and in response to insistent applause she favored the audience with another equally pleasing number.

Prof. Pearson's closing talk was then given, and was like all of his addresses during the institute—of absorbing interest and filled with helpful thoughts. Professor Pearson was roundly applauded, and he "shook hands with himself" at having been privileged to be with the Fayette county teachers during the institute. Like Prof. Morgan, his efforts were appreciated, and he made a host of close friends among the men and women who are engaged in the work of teaching Fayette's more than 6,000 pupils.

The annual election of officers followed the address given by Prof. Pearson. Mr. Frank M. Allen was elected president and Miss Georgiana Kirk was elected treasurer.

Resolutions were submitted and adopted in which all persons contributing to the success of the event were thanked.

Then came one of the happiest events of the institute—the presentation, by Mr. Frank M. Allen, in behalf of the teachers assembled, of a handsome silk umbrella to Supt. McClain—an expression of the appreciation of his work in making the institute a tremendous success. Prof. McClain responded to the complimentary speech of Mr. Allen, thanking the teachers for their gift.

Mr. Orville Turner then presented to Mr. Allen a large box of flowers, presented by the Fayette county teachers.

The closing numbers on the program contributed by Mrs. Arthur Burgett, in two splendidly rendered vocal solos, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Kelley.

RUSSIANS GET READY TO RESIST

London, Aug. 7.—The position of the retreating Russians between the Vistula and the Bug rivers has grown more precarious as a result of the heavy rains of the past few days. The marshes in their rear hold the rising water, confining the movement of troops exclusively to a few roads. The retreat, therefore, is encountering increased difficulties.

London, Aug. 7.—With the exception of the great entrenched camp of Novogeorgievsk, the Russians have evacuated the whole line of the Vistula river. Ivangorod, the southern fortress, having fallen into the hands of the Austro-German army, the Russians are now making their way eastward to the Brest-Litovsk line.

The decision of the general staff to leave the garrison in Novogeorgievsk is announced in Petrograd dispatches. The object is to deprive the Germans of the use of railway communications and of the Vistula river for bringing up supplies for their armies.

Novogeorgievsk is situated at the junction of the Vistula, Narew and Wkra rivers, to the northwest of Warsaw. It has two powerful bridgeheads, eight citadels and seventy-four redoubts, containing 11-inch and 12-inch batteries. It is calculated here by military observers that an army corps can hold out there for many months, as the camp is protected by massive earthworks, which doubtless have been enlarged and improved since the Russians were compelled to begin their retirement.

The laying of siege to Novogeorgievsk may prove one of the most interesting operations of the war, as it doubtless will show whether earthworks are less susceptible to the fire of high explosives than are cupola forts.

Of the retreating Russian armies, the official reports say nothing. The Russians, however, destroyed the bridges over the Vistula and took other means to place obstacles in the path of their pursuers, while others of their forces

continue to offer stubborn resistance to the Germans and Austrians south and north who are trying to forge a ring around them.

The general opinion here is that the Russians commenced their retirement in time to escape this inner ring, but they have yet to reckon with the wider outflanking movement from Lomza, which, if successful, would turn the Brest-Litovsk line.

An even more serious menace seemingly is General Von Buelow's advance in the Baltic provinces. While, according to Petrograd, the Germans have been thrown back immediately south of Riga, they have made a further advance east of Poniewesch toward the Dvinsk-Vilna-Petrograd railway.

Along the western front the Germans have made a series of attacks. French reports were repulsed.

The occupation of Warsaw now is centering attention on a series of important events that are being arranged. First will be the selection of a German governor. Reports indicate the appointee will be a German prince, possibly a son of the German emperor or an Austrian archduke, who will be vested with authority akin to that which Napoleon gave to his brothers and to his marshals as kings of occupied territory.

Berlin reports a council to be held on Sunday will formulate a proclamation declaring Poland to be a semi-autonomous state under joint Polish and Austro-Hungarian rule.

HAITIENS ARE PROTESTING

Port au Prince, Haiti, Aug. 7.—American naval forces took possession of the office of the port, the national palace and the Haitian gunboat Pacificque, which arrived in Port au Prince.

During the movement to take the office of the port the Americans opened fire on the Haitians and one Haitian was killed.

The occupation of the office of the port and the national palace gave the Americans the last positions held by the Haitians. The populace has been thrown into consternation by the operations of the Americans. The president of the senate, in the name of the nation, cabled Solon Menos, Haitian minister to the United States, a new protest against the occupation of Haitian territory by the American naval forces.

TO DEPORT OR INTERN GERMAN MISSIONARIES

London, Aug. 7.—The Times says that the government of India has decided to intern or deport all German missionaries.

A LESSON FOR THE NURSE.

She Didn't Like It When She Was Paid In Her Own Coin.

A mother overheard her nurse girl talking to the child she was putting to sleep, and among other legends of the nursery in which she was indulged was this: "If you don't go to sleep this very minute a great, big, awful, black bear, with eyes like coals of fire and sharp, white, cruel teeth, will come out from under the bed and eat-a-y-o-u-a-l-l up!" The poor little thing nestled down under the clothes to dream of horrid bears eating her up.

That night when the stolid nurse had composed herself in her own comfortable bed and had put the light out there came a sudden rap at the door, and the voice of the mistress called loudly through the panels: "Maggie! Maggie! Get up as quick as you can! There's a burglar under your bed!" At the word "burglar" the girl sprang screaming from the bed, tore open the door and fell into hysterics in the hall.

The lesson was more instructive than the mistress designed, but when the girl's fears had calmed she said to her: "You did not hesitate to tell my delicate child, who could not possibly know that it was a lie, a cruel story about a bear under her bed. Now, when I treat you to the same kind of a story, you are nearly frightened to death. Tomorrow you can go into the kitchen and work there. You are not fit to care for little children."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

"Jiggs has a very wide acquaintance."

"I know it. I saw him on the street with her the other night."—Buffalo Express.
